Wilmslow is home to our modern, open plan head office, Wycliffe House, where the vast majority of our employees are based.

Wilmslow is a thriving Cheshire town, renowned for its exclusive shopping centre, café and restaurant culture with major high street chains, independent boutiques and great places to eat just outside our office.

Our office is also within easy walking distance of the local railway station and bus stop. We are only a 10 minute train ride from Stockport, 15 minutes from Manchester City Centre and 15 minutes from Crewe. We also benefit from hourly trains direct to London Euston so you can be in the heart of London in under 2 hours.

We are only a short drive from the M60 and M56 and a 10 minute drive from Manchester International Airport.

Situated in the thriving Cardiff Bay area, we are within walking distance of tourist attractions that include the Wales Millennium Centre and the Welsh Assembly Building.

A number of popular restaurants (including Mimosa's, owned by Ioan Gruffudd) are also nearby, as well as locations that have been used in the filming of both Torchwood and Dr Who. Focusing on fact rather than science fiction, our office is in Mount Stuart Square and has a notable mention of its own – a lift believed to be the oldest in Cardiff. But don't worry, it is perfectly safe. Our open plan office offers spectacular views of the Bay. And there are plenty of transport links connecting Cardiff Bay with the city centre and surrounding area.

Our Scottish office is located in a modernised Georgian building in Edinburgh's New Town. It is light, airy and open plan with good bus and train links nearby. The main focus of our Scottish office is data protection – for which the ICO is Scotland's sole regulatory body.

Scotland has its own separate Information Commissioner who regulates the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act, which covers Scottish public authorities. However, we do have regulatory power under the (UK) FOI Act for UK public authorities based in Scotland, including The Forestry Commission, BBC Scotland and The Scottish Consumer Council.

The majority of our employees are based in Wilmslow but we have a small number of employees based at our satellite office in London.

Enjoying sweeping views across Westminster, the Parliament buildings and the central government offices in and around Whitehall, our open plan office is on the 13th floor of Millbank Tower. A number of eateries and shops are nearby. And we've good transport links with tube and bus routes with mainline rail links at Waterloo and Victoria within walking distance.

Situated in the heart of the city centre, just behind City Hall, our excellent location offers good public transport links that include the nearby Central station and Europa bus station. It also benefits from being close to the main shopping centre and there are plenty of good places to eat nearby.

Our office was formally a linen mill and has now been converted into an open plan, loft style space.
